Wildflower Seeds Recipe for Success

1. Remove all weeds and keep the area as weed free as possible. Wildflowers have a difficult time competing with weeds, particularly grasses, for sunlight and nutrients.
2. Do not fertilize.
3. Sow seed as directed on package.
4. Lightly press seed into the soil or gently rake in.
5. Let Mother Nature take over the watering unless the seedlings have emerged and we have two week periods or longer of no rain. In this case, you will need to irrigate to keep the soil moist and the seedlings from drying out.

Whether you just want to cover a small area or a large hillside, we have varieties to help you succeed.
